DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Species I which pertains to claims 1-2, 4-12, 14 and 19-22 in the reply filed on April 6, 2007 is acknowledged. Claims 3, 15-18 and 23-24 pertaining have been non-elected and withdrawn by the Applicant in reply filed on 4/6/07.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 14, 19, 20 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hollander (US 6,817,032). Hollander discloses a protective pad including a base layer made of clothing (12) having integral fasteners of hook and loop fastening on at least outward facing surface thereof, col. 4, lines 45-52 with a plurality of protective layers/hand protector (14) being smaller than the base layers that are attached thereto which corresponds to the nerves or bones as shown in figures 1 and 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 4-12, and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hollander. With regard to claims 2, 4-12 and 22, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to recognize that the protective layers/hand protector are conventionally constructed of cover material having impact absorbing and rigid material therein as required for a particular application or end use thereof.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
